JOHNSON AND ESHLEMAN GIVE AN ACCOUNT OF THEIR WORK

RECORD PROVEN IT IS UP TO VOTERS

Governor and Railroad Commissioner Depict What Administration Has Done

STATE IS WRESTED FROM THE INTERESTS

Humane Laws for Betterment of Conditions Passed by Legislature

Though last evening's storm was the worst of the year, a good-sized crowd of voters gathered at the Grand Opera House to hear Governor Johnson and Railroad Commissioner Eshleman. Considering the wind and rain that prevailed all evening, the crowd was a tremendous testimonial to the faith that the people of Santa Ana have in the men who have given the state the kind of government that they said they would give it. Had the night been fair, the Grand Opera House would have been crowded to its utmost capacity.

In clear, forcible manner Eshleman reviewed the work of the railroad commission, showing that the public utilities have been put in their place and that now the people are masters of the Southern Pacific in California.

In ringing tones and with a convincing array of facts, Governor Johnson depicted the accomplishments of the state administration.

When the two men had told what had been done, sincerely and in a straight forward manner, with every assertion backed up by the records, they simply left it up to the people.

"TAKE IT AND GO FORWARD," SAID JOHNSON, "OR TAKE IT AND GO BACKWARD. IT IS UP TO YOU."

With the roar of the storm beating on the roof, the meeting was opened. As the curtain lifted the Santa Ana Band started "The Star Spangled Banner," and everybody arose.

"Governor Johnson and Commissioner Eshleman are here to render an account of their stewardship," said S. J. Jackman, chairman of the Progressive Central Committee, in introducing M. M. Crookshank as chairman for the evening. On the platform were a number of ladies. Among others were Assemblyman Hans V. Weisel of Anaheim.

"These two men have been making history in California," said Mr. Crookshank. "Their work has been done to the entire satisfaction of nearly everybody except the Southern Pacific." Eshleman was the first speaker.

Santa Barbara Meeting
 Eshleman declared that the meeting of Republicans recently held at Santa Barbara was dominated by men who were politically dishonest. That meeting endorsed the work of the railroad commission.

"The commission may either accept the flattery," said Eshleman, "or repudiate the authors. I desire no praise. I know that they do not approve of the railroad commission, for those same men who dominated that Santa Barbara convention have opposed progressive and humane legislation since 1903 that I personally know of."

"Why don't they stand out and tell their real sentiments? Because they know that California's people are determined that public utilities shall be regulated. Their declarations at Santa Barbara commending the work of the administration is rank hypocrisy. In the four days of the meeting, I have heard nothing but lies. I have done more work as a commissioner in those four days than any commissioner before my term did in any four years."

Millions for People
 Eshleman gave specific instances in which huge sums have been saved to the people of the state through reductions in rates. Here are some of the savings effected through decisions: San Joaquin rate case, $750,000 per year; San Pedro, $150,000; Imperial Valley, $150,000; demurrage, $180,000; Owens river, $100,000; electric roads in Southern California, $420,000. Big cuts were made in the Wells-Fargo Company rates. Soon the long distance rates will be cut in two on an order of the commission, saving $520,000 a year for patrons of the Pacific Telephone Company alone.

"The commission was right in showing by the fact that out of all these cases only one was taken into court. That one was the San Pedro rate case, and it was thrown out of court. Our decision in the telephone case was not contested in court, the first telephone decision of that kind in the United

OPERA HOUSE AT ORANGE CROWDED BY PEOPLE TO HEAR TWO GREAT LEADERS

ORANGE, Feb. 21.—A mud splattered, rain-soaked automobile reached Orange yesterday afternoon at 3:25 o'clock. In it were Governor Johnson and J. M. Eshleman, president of the State Railroad Commission. A greater part of the day they had traveled through the storm that they might keep their speaking engagements here and at Santa Ana. While they arrived here a little late, they were distinctly gratified at finding Campbell's Opera House crowded with people. There was not a vacant seat in the house.

S. M. Craddock had been speaking a few minutes, explaining the cause of delay, when Governor Johnson and his party arrived. They were ushered to the platform by Mrs. Lee Collins, Mrs. J. E. Parker, Mrs. S. M. Craddock. Among those on the platform were S. J. Jackman and P. L. Tope of Santa Ana, president and secretary of the Progressive County Central Committee, State Senator J. N. Anderson, M. M. Crookshank and John Beatty of Santa Ana, S. M. Craddock and several other residents of Orange. David Hewes, aged 32 years, father of Hewes Hill, was called to a seat on the platform.

Jackman called the meeting to order and turned it over to Mrs. Lee Collins to preside. In a forcible manner, Mrs. Collins introduced Eshleman, candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor, as president of a railroad commission that was not named by the railroads.

A Great Work
 "The people of this state have a right to know, and we intend that they shall know," said Eshleman, "what work has been done for the people by the present administration in this state. We are now out upon a trip to tell the people what has been done."

Eshleman then reviewed briefly the work of the Railroad Commission. "In each month since the present commission went into office, and in many weeks, this commission has decided more cases than all the railroad commissions in the state had decided in the thirty-two years previous to the time this commission went into office. In one day this commission decided within one case as many as was decided in the thirty-two years when the commission was in the hands of tools of the railroads."

"The public utilities of this state now know that the people must be obeyed. No one individual has been responsible for so much of this change in government as our great governor. He has done his duty."

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED AT HUNTINGTON BEACH WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

On alighting last night, at 7 o'clock, from a Los Angeles car arriving at Huntington Beach Miss Eva Preston was struck and instantly killed by a north-bound Santa Ana car at the Pacific Electric depot at Twelfth street.

Owing to last night's terrific storm the electric cars carried red lights. These gave a light much less powerful than the white ones generally carried, and when Miss Preston got off the Los Angeles car the noise made by the wind and rain was such as to drown the ringing of the south-bound car's gong. The rain came down in such torrents just at the time when she stepped on the east-bound track that the girl was utterly unable to see the headlight of the car that caused her death.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Preston, the parents of the unfortunate girl, have their home between Huntington Beach and Wintersburg. Miss Preston was twenty-two years of age and a student at Occidental College, from which place she was returning to spend the week-end with her father and mother.

was political advancement, on the other principle.

"Just as the Progressives have chosen, he chose principle, not taking the advice of his friend who had told him to stay in the old party. Today we seek in state and nation to maintain a principle that all men are free and equal. We quarrel with no man who desires to continue to worship a party fetish. That is his right."

"The problems of today must be met with the wisdom of today, not with the wisdom of a decade or a century ago. I remember when I marched in torchlight parades and voted as the orators told us. When I went out into the world, as you have done, and went squarely up against the gun in the fight for existence that I and my loved ones might live, I realized that government after all has a better purpose than merely to make some men richer, that it should be for the betterment of men, women and children. When we realize that we have learned the first lesson in Progressivism."

Two Groups
 "There are two groups in politics. One believes that the people have the intelligence to govern themselves, and the other believes that every possible barrier should be put between the people and ultimate government."

With the heavy rains of last night, the Santa Ana river and San Jacinto creek are swollen and from Olive to the tidewater damage is threatened. Damage has been done to a number of bridges. The worst break in the Santa Ana river is above Seventh street on the east side.

Eating the Levee
 Between the Seventeenth street bridge and the point where the San Jacinto creek empties into the Santa Ana river, there is a bad break on the east side, and a big volume of water is out of the channel. The current turned against the east bank, and ate it away. This put the center of the stream almost against the end of the sand levee and it has been melting away.

From the point of breaking down to Fifth street the ranches are under water. Most of the water so far has gone through the small bridge on West Fifth, but the ranchers expect the flood to increase upon them. English street is all river.

The east approach of the West Fifth street bridge has been damaged, by water undermining a portion of it at the east bulkhead. Supervisor Talbert and County Surveyor McBride had a gang of men at work filling bags with sand, using these bags to break the water away from the bulkhead.

One approach of the bridge across the San Jacinto on Tustin avenue is reported as out. The east approach of the Olive bridge across the Santa Ana is out.

There is a small break on the east bank of the Santa Ana river at the Crawford ranch at Olive, but the volume of water that has so far escaped is not nearly as great as that which went out in the previous storm.

As in the previous storm there has been some water out near the sewer farm. Last night there was a high tide, and water was forced from the river channel over 2500 to 3000 acres of sugar beet lands in the lowest part of the lowlands. Most of this land had been planted. Some of it had only recently been drained of the water that went over it in the other storm.

The South Glassell street bridge over the San Jacinto was not injured. Trees were used to protect the approach. During the night the water was two feet higher than it was this morning.

The Santa Fe bridge over the San Jacinto at Orange is unsafe. Considering the amount of rain, and in comparison to the damage in other parts of Southern California, this county got off exceedingly light as to damage.

All day long men have been watching the Santa Ana river along the protection work done by the Newbert Protection District. A call for men was sent in to keep the river from leaving the channel at the sewer farm.

Supervisor Talbert stated that the water running in the river at the Talbert crossing was not as much this morning as there was in the last storm.

Bridge Is Unsafe
 The Hannah street bridge over the creek at West Orange is unsafe for traffic. The underpinning on the west side of the structure has been washed away and it will not be possible for teams or motors to cross until the bridge is repaired.

At 1:30 this afternoon reports from North Main street went to the effect that the creek had gone down about a foot and a half since this morning. The bridge suffered no damage.

Santa Ana is cut off from the world today as effectively as it has been cut off in years. The telephone wires are down, but telephone communication with Los Angeles is maintained.

Telephone Wires
 Local Pacific Telephone officials say that as far as damage to lines is concerned conditions are worse than they have been for a good many years. Ana and vicinity are inundated at present through lack of facilities for telephoning. The Home people are also having trouble with a number of their lines but both companies have men out repairing the systems.

There were no Los Angeles papers here until 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, when the Times got here by automobile. Agent McVay went beyond Whittier after the papers.

Tried in Vain
 All efforts to mend the break above Seventeenth street on the Santa Ana river proved of no avail. H. Clay Kellogg, engineer of the Newbert Protection District, was in charge of the men who were at work trying to herd the river back into the channel, but it was not possible to accomplish much.

WILD DUEL WITH ONE PISTOL FOR TWO

Mexicans in Bloody Fight Over Girl—Both Wounded, One Believed Fatally

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—Two Mexicans yesterday fought a duel with one revolver for the affections of a Mexican girl. As a result both are wounded and one is believed to be dying.

Fabio Oroscio and Luis Buenavida met at a saloon and decided to settle their claims for the girl's hand immediately. They went to a house in Mitchell alley and locked themselves in a room. Buenavida produced a revolver, but it was found that Oroscio had no weapon, so they flipped a coin for the first shot. Buenavida won and Oroscio stood against the wall with his arms folded. Buenavida shot him through the lungs. Oroscio fell and then pulled himself to where the gun lay. Buenavida then took his place against the wall and Oroscio shot him in the head.

Lodgers called the police, who found both men unconscious. Buenavida regained his senses in the hospital and told the story. Oroscio is reported to be in a critical condition.

MANAGER RICKEY PUTS LID ON POKER FOR HIS PLAYERS

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—A special to a St. Louis paper from a correspondent who is accompanying the first squad of the St. Louis Americans to the training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., says Manager Rickey yesterday stopped a poker game among four of his ball players and announced he would permit no poker playing among the St. Louis Americans this year.

"I consider poker a harmful game when played in a ball club," Rickey is quoted as having said. "The stakes grow too large, the player sits up at night, unfitting himself for the ensuing day; and to the poker table may be traced more than one split among major league players."

BENTON SHOT AT COURT'S ORDER

Consul Edwards Makes Facts Public on Demand of English Embassy

WAS CONVICTED OF PLOT ON LIFE OF GEN. VILLA

3 More Englishmen Missing—Had Demanded News of Benton at Juarez

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—At the request of the British ambassador, Cecil Spring-Rice, Secretary of State Bryan ordered United States Consul Edwards to make a full report of the William H. Benton affair, Edwards accordingly made public these facts: That Benton had conspired to take the life of General Villa, and that he was given a regular court martial trial, convicted and shot. The report made by Consul Edwards has been forwarded to the British war office.

THREE MORE ENGLISHMEN ARE MISSING IN JUAREZ TERRITORY

MODERN TENDENCIES OF THEOLOGICAL THOUGHT

Paper Read Before the Santa Ana Present Day Club and the Southern California Baptist Ministerial Association at Los Angeles, by Rev. Otto Russell, Pastor of the Santa Ana First Baptist Church.

PART TWO—SCIENCE AND MIRACLES

The scientific method has been applied to miracles, sometimes in a harmful way. In our day we are accepting things which we can explain, which would have been called miracles in days gone by. One might refer to Elijah—in olden times Elijah was taken up from the earth in a chariot of fire, an event which all ages since affirm to have been a marvelous work of God. Now one comes forth and says, in our city not long since, we saw a man ascend from the earth in a flying machine, return to earth again, take up his father and mother, mount into the sky and disappear in the distance. These are not parallel cases, but they are similar. We can explain Martin's flying, but when it comes to Elijah we must admit that another than Elijah held the reins over those steeds.

Again we read that Elijah made his axe to float, when it sank in the water, by thrusting a stick in the water. So one answers, it is a greater miracle for man to make a ship of steel like one of our great battleships to float. But we know that no man can thrust a stick into old ocean and in response the Maine or the Titanic will rise to the surface and go steaming away.

We cannot explain all miracles on scientific grounds—indeed the objection to miracles on the part of science is that miracles remove the control of the miraculous event from human hands and make men dependent upon God.

On the other hand W. A. Brown in Christian Theology says: "Science recognizes no single miracle, because all the world has become miraculous." Dr. A. H. Strong writes, in Systematic Theology: "Miracle is an immediate operation of God, but since all natural processes are also immediate operations of God, we do not need to deny the use of these natural processes, so far as they will go in miracle. Such wonders of the Old Testament as the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, the partings of the Red sea and the Jordan, the calling down of fire from heaven by Elijah, the destruction of the army of Sennacherib, are none the less the works of God, even when regarded as wrought by the use of natural means. In the New Testament Christ took water to make wine, and took the five loaves to make bread, just as in ten thousand vineyards today he is turning the moisture of the earth into the juice of the grape, and in ten thousand fields is turning carbon into corn. The virgin birth of Christ may be an extreme instance of parthenogenesis, which Prof. Loeb, in Chicago, has just demonstrated to take place in other than the lowest forms of life, which he believes possible in all. This shows the trend of thought in minds of some of our greatest theologians.

Dr. Shaller Matthews says: "If we drop the debatable word 'miracle' and use the word event, many difficulties vanish. No theorist should object to such a change for it not only clarifies the question every defender of Christian doctrine has attempted to answer; but it also clears the discussion of a mass of prejudice and metaphysical theology that has gathered about miracle. If God be in His world, all events are of His will; they differ in being more or less classifiable, prove that an event occurred, and we find God there."

His idea then is to eliminate any conflict between theology and science in the dealing with miracles by changing the name, not the event, while he further says: "The gospel cannot remain the gospel in its New Testament sense and suffer the loss of those events it calls 'Signs' and 'Wonders.' That would conceivably mean even the loss of the historical Jesus himself."

Scientific investigation is much welcomed by theologians provided it does not assume everything; but when it endeavors to pass beyond the scientific into the spiritual it flounders in the dark. When it reaches this place and predicament Theology goes beyond and declares, I accept here on faith.

Let us not forget that the ultimate beliefs in science are no more certain than the ultimate beliefs in theology. Dr. Mullins says: "It is important to remember that the facts which physical science deals with are no more real than those of moral and religious science. The fact, for example, of chemical coherence or affinity among substances is no more real than the fact of logical coherence of thoughts. The attraction of gravitation between bodies is no more real than the attraction of affection between persons. The forces of steam which propel the engine, the progressive unfolding of an egg into a bird which can fly, has no greater claim to our acceptance than the progressive unfolding of a thought into a system which conquers men. These groups of facts are equally valid; each group can be reasoned about; science can deal with either; one group clusters about matter of force, the other around personality and spirit. But we must rigidly insist that the data of spirit are really data; that is to say, they are given to us as truly as those of matter. Reasoning about them labor under no greater disability than reasoning about physical nature; conclusions about them may be buttressed as strongly as any other conclusions."

Now the danger in this tendency, so-called scientific investigation or method, is in the minds of some a subtle method of rejecting the miraculous in creation, in regeneration and in the life of Christ, a belittling of prayer as having only reflex influence. Thus it obscures God's face and pushes Christ off the throne. But so long as this method comes as a helper, not as a censorious critic or as supreme authority, theology must welcome it.

When we were children we had ideas of miracles which we do not hold today. We used to think of miracles as violations of the laws of the universe, We regarded the universe as governed by fixed laws. Up on this fixedness of law we were told that astronomers could calculate eclipses, etc. Notwithstanding this fixedness, once in a while God would interfere, set aside the laws of the universe or change their order and achieve some very wonderful thing which we called miracle. Now science comes along and explodes this idea and even boasts of its achievement.

Science has taught us some splendid lessons. It tells us that the eye sometimes put up in our eagerness to see the gospel progress. "Why does not God continue the gift of healing and miracle working today so that many people would be convinced of the genuineness of the gospel and it might be attended with so much greater success?"—Science teaches us that such a cry is not an evidence of faith, but rather of unbelief; that it is the manifestation of the old weakness of the natural man who wants to see before he believes; and in this he is placing the miracle before the miracle worker, and accusing God of shortsightedness in His work today.

Science teaches us that there is an object of faith above and beyond miracles—that is, the miracle worker, the Christ of God; that the world does not think any more of Jesus because of miracles, or any the less of Him without the miracle, for He is sufficient of Himself as an object of faith. Jesus did not ask men to base their faith on miracles; indeed at times He seemed to be exceeding anxious to keep them from getting abroad. But he did urge men to fix their faith in Him, in His love for men, His character, His sacrifice for sin and His power to regenerate men—His life. So it is Jesus the wonder worker, not His work, who remains the object of men's faith; with this science has no quarrel.

Upon the whole we believe scientific investigation to be helpful. Dr. Robertson of the Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky, said in a letter: "In my judgment, scientific discoveries have brought us up sharp to the presence of reality, and we are thrown back on experience in a new way; all this is to the good in the end; we shall see that the life in Christ is the main thing. The New Testament throbs with life; we need to search it afresh and keep close to God, and the age is open to our message."

SAGE TEA PUTS LIFE AND COLOR IN HAIR

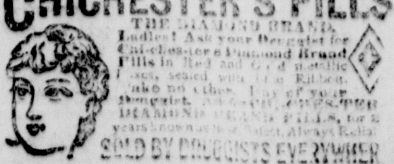

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

AMUSEMENTS

"Adele" at the Grand

The engagement of the French operetta "Adele," which comes to the Grand Opera House Monday, Feb. 23, promises to be one of the most important events of the current season. "Adele" for the past six months has been the reigning musical sensation of the New York season, where it has tested the capacity of the Longacre Theater.

The book and lyrics are by Paul Herve, while the music is by Jean Briquet, who were responsible for the big success of three seasons ago, "Alma."

Adolph Phillip and Edward Paulton, who made the English version of "Alma," adapted "Adele," which is conceded by all critics a musical triumph; in fact they have said it is the best musical offering produced in the past ten years.

Managing Director Jos. P. Bickerton, Jr., of the New Era Producing Company, who produced "Adele," has sumptuously mounted the operetta, and the costumes are Parisian revelations.

The cast, which is said to rival that of the famous Bostonians as a singing organization, includes Carolyn Thomson, Nannette Flack, John Park, Lottie Vincent, Ralph Nairn, George O'Donnell, Alfred Kappler, Jules Espallier, Lawrence Knapp, and the famous "Adele" beauties.

A metropolitan orchestra of twenty pieces will enhance the brilliancy of a most melodious score.

NASHVILLE STUDENTS

MINSTRELS DELIGHT

A PACKED HOUSE

Culligan's Nashville Students Minstrels, who held the boards at the Segerberg Theater last evening played to one of the biggest houses ever gathered in that place. Standing room was at a premium long before the curtain was raised on the opening scene. The troupe had considerable talent and is above the average seen in this place. The comic acts and witty utterances of the troupe members kept the majority of the audience in an uproar of laughter during the evening.—Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Daily Times.

Culligan's Nashville Students more than made good in the clean comedy which is served up to the audience.

Several of the special features brought down the house and every number on the long and entertaining program was heartily enjoyed. It is safe to predict that the next troupe of this calibre which is booked here by J. A. Segerberg, the enterprising manager of the theater, will be greeted by the same sized house.—Topeka (Kansas) News.

The Nashville Students are billed to appear at Cline's Theater next week. Watch for them.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

First Baptist Church
Corner Third and Bush, Otto S. Russell, pastor.

Morning sermon, 11 o'clock; subject: "Man's and Christ's Wealth." Evening service at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Carson, a returned missionary from Burma, will give an entertaining story of some of her experiences.

Sunday school, 9:45; Y.P.S.C.E., 5:45.
Morning Music
Prelude, "Ase's Tod" (Greig); anthem, "Hear Me When I Call" (Hall).—Sings by Messrs. Van Cleave and Ramsey; soprano solo, "O, Rest in the Lord" (Mendelssohn)—Miss Irene Balcom; postlude, "March" (Clark).

Evening Music
Prelude, "Spring Song" (Mendelssohn); anthem, "Sun of My Soul" (Moulton)—Sings by Mrs. Frank Harris and Miss Mame Havens; baritone solo, "Out of the Deep" (Genet)—Mr. Lou P. Hickox; gospel song, "Are You Ready?" (Lorenz)—Mr. Benjamin and choir; postlude, improvisation.

Bible Students
The International Bible Students' Association meets in the Armory each Sunday for scripture study. Topic at 1:30 p.m.: "The 'It' of 1 Cor. 15:42-44."

At 3 o'clock W. R. Mitchell of Los Angeles will deliver a lecture on "Which is the True Gospel?" He deals with his subject in a logical and attractive manner, speaking BUSTER BROWN'S "DARNLESS" Hosiery is practically the only 25c sheer, silk like, guaranteed hosiery that outlives its four-months guarantee, is absolutely fast dyed and retains its lustrous, stylish finish after laundering. It's fully as fine in finish as other 35c and 50c values.

Buster Brown's "DARNLESS" Hosiery is made scientifically. Without increasing the weight of its cool, gauzy like body, where wearing strain is slight, the wearing parts—toe, heel, sole, knee and top—are heavily reinforced with 2, 3- and 4-ply strong linen thread. This provides wearing strength without increasing weight. Adopt Buster's "DARNLESS" Hosiery for your family and you can throw away your darning bag.

week except Friday evening there will be a general review of the whole Bible by the class, consisting of genealogies, outlines, etc., which will be very interesting. This will close the Bible reading of the past three months.

Come and attend any or all of these meetings and receive a hearty welcome.

Services 11 a.m., 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Miss Olive Stoner will conduct the Young People's meeting at 6:30 p.m. It is expected that this will be the greatest day in the history of this church. All should hear these earnest spiritual preachers.

SATISFIED THAT HER POULTRY IS PAYING

Do chickens pay, is a question often heard asked? Mrs. Matlocks of Villa Park is convinced that they do. She has ten Rhode Island Red pullets that have laid 210 eggs in thirty days, an average of seven eggs a day. In the 30 days she sold $7.50 worth of eggs, and hatched thirteen little chicks. The hens' feed bill was $1.20. Thus she found that her ten hens had netted her $6.30 and thirteen little chicks.

NEW SCHOOL IS FILLING UP

EL MODENA, Feb. 21.—The new school building at El Modena is being rapidly filled. It is found necessary to frequently add new desks in the primary rooms. It will probably be necessary to supply the school with the sixth teacher next year. The growth in the school has been steady and rapid for several years. The school is the pulse of the community.

It is doubtful if there is any other section of Orange county where so many sales have been made proportionately as in this beautiful foothill country.

Arthur Spurling has been busy of late shipping orange trees.

Mr. Wood's house on north Alameda street is nearing completion. It is a beautiful modern six-room bungalow.

S. R. Summers is still unable to leave the house on account of heart trouble.

The funeral of Rosa Hadley was well attended on Wednesday, but on account of the rain few were able to go to the cemetery.

C. H. Blanchard now lives on the Beyer property, having exchanged his Santa Ana property to Mrs. Wolf.

C. E. House has the building recently purchased from Mr. Reisch, ready to be occupied on the lot on Vine street.

Mr. McLain, who bought the Gilman house, has moved it from Huntington Beach. He likes it fine at El Modena.

The road to Orange is now opened. This is a long-looked-for event, and will cause the roundabout, muddy way to soon be forgotten.

The orchard work was pretty well done, getting the ranches in good shape for the fine rains.

The total rainfall to Friday morning for the last storm period was 1.65 inches, while the total for the season is 14.84 inches. This makes it look like prosperity for this section.

The real estate men say there is much call for small ranches, that they are not able to supply.

BREA STUDENTS' RECITAL WAS HELD AT BREA

BREA, Feb. 20.—The home of Mrs. C. A. Culp of Brea was the scene of keen interest and pleasure Friday afternoon, Feb. 13, the occasion being a students' recital given by pupils of Mrs. Carl H. Seamans. This was the first of a series of recitals, and proved to be a very enjoyable event.

Miss Julia Culp, age 6, played "Forget Me Not," by Poldoni.

Miss Ethel Sullivan, 8, played "The Rose Bud," by Daniel Rowe.

Miss Florence Steel, 10, played "Barcarolle" (Venetian Boat Song) by La Bitzky.

Miss Lucile Graham, 9, played a study from Joachim Violin Method.

Miss Helen Culp, 11, played "Hunting Song," by Schumann.

Mauricia Hualde, 12, played "Cradle Song," by Chopin.

Miss Laura Culp, 9, played "On the Meadow," by Lichner.

Miss Marcelina Hualde, 11, played "Spring Song," by Emelriche.

Master Ralph Van Horbecke, 8, played "Dragon Fly," by Kuhe.

Master James Craig, 13, played "Minuet," by Beethoven, a violin selection.

All of the participants did splendidly and were indeed an honor to their teacher. A Scale Contest of four octaves proved to be a great benefit to all. Miss Julia Culp gathered in the first prize and Miss Ethel Sullivan the second prize.

Misses Helen, Julia and Laura Culp served dainty refreshments, and the afternoon was in every way a happy success.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder is Troubling You

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

SPECULATIVE WATER FILINGS

On April 8, 1911, the date of the passage of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, creating the State Board of Control, (water power), there were approximately thirty thousand notices of appropriation of water for power purposes filed in the various counties of the state.

An examination was made by engineers employed by the state for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not work had been done on any of the claims. About 1500 claims in all were investigated and it was found that about 95 per cent of these claims had lapsed on account of no work having been done thereon.

A number of these lapsed claims have been transferred to various speculative irrigation and power companies. These companies are holding the claims down by having a man at work cutting brush and living on the bank of the stream. They are holding them until they think the time is ripe to develop the power or sell the use of the water.

In the meanwhile any settler or resident of the vicinity of these claims who might desire to put the water to beneficial use is prevented or deterred from so doing by reason of the fact that he would have to go into court in order to have the prior claims of the power or irrigation company adjudicated. There are few private citizens of the rural districts who can afford to go to the expense of this endless litigation. A corporation always has the "whip-hand" in litigation of this character because of its large resources in financing such litigation.

The Water Commission Act of 1913, suspended by referendum petition, would substitute the state for the private citizen in this litigation. If this Act should become a law after the election of 1914 the rights of all parties will be thoroughly protected, where any exist, and it will be at a very nominal cost to all concerned.

THE GLAMOR OF DISTANCE

"Distance lends enchantment." No proverb is truer to real life than this sententious saying, which packs into three words a whole philosophy of business.

To some people the fact that an article of goods was made in England, Paris, or elsewhere, is prima facie evidence that it is better. If they stopped to think about it they ought to know that the United States, whatever its political and social faults, is acknowledged as supreme in material achievement.

Our compatriots build the best bridges, provide the most convenient railroad travel, and the most comfortable homes. The chances are at least more than even that the output of their mills is better adapted to meet home needs than those of some distant foreign producer.

Similarly there are a good many people who feel an instinctive prejudice against articles bought in their home town. Something secured in some distant store looks better to them,—until they actually test its qualities.

Yet if this feeling is analyzed, it is seen to be about as well founded as the fancied superiority of foreign goods. The home store does a smaller business than some distant department emporium. It loses a fraction of costs there. But it more than makes it up by cheaper rents. Then there is the fact that the larger a business center is, the more it costs to run a store there. Almost every item in the expense account is at a higher rate. All this is charged to the consumer.

For such reasons a well advertised home store is about as efficient a machine for serving the public as you can get. The buyer for stores the size of ours is close enough to get the counter so that he makes very few mistakes.

Gazing upon the Kaiser's thrilling record of forty-three wild hours and seventeen stages in a few hours, it must be confessed that Mr. Armour's most skillful assistant could hardly do better.

Evidently the Administration is paying no more attention to Japan than Mexico is to the Administration.

As dimly outlined by Senator Vardaman, of Mississippi, the black brother's environment would be incomplete without a plow line and a mule.

THE CITRUS FRUIT INDUSTRY

Department of Service to Citrus Fruit Growers, Conducted Especially for the Register.

Copyrighted by Reginald Brinsmead.

A GOOD TIME FOR INVESTMENT

The old saying that "There is no time like the present" is certainly a true one when applied to probable or possible investment in orange or lemon orchards in California today.

Some years ago the writer was much impressed by some remarks made by Professor Bailey, of Cornell University, during the course of one of his lectures on fruit growing. Professor Bailey had been discussing the apple growing industry, its many ups and its many downs, when he stated that the merits of no fruit growing industry could be correctly judged unless a sufficient period was taken under review, suggesting we believe ten years as a fair length of time. He also stated that the years of great depression amongst apple growers were usually followed quickly by years of great prosperity, and that the average was the only true way of judging the business.

The same is certainly true of the citrus fruit growing in California, and the fact that the past two seasons have not proved profitable ones with many growers, and that markets the present season have not to date shown any great profit, has created conditions favoring the purchase of good citrus property by the investor at this time.

Apart from the general promise of great expansion and enhancement of values throughout the Pacific Coast in the near future, the citrus fruit growing industry of California holds inherent possibilities and promise in itself of great future profit and expansion.

It is true that the next few years will probably see the survival of the fittest; for many orchards planted in ill chosen locations or growing under unfavorable conditions (the lambsducks), must in due course of events become eliminated and be replaced by other crops.

In common with everything else which has enjoyed great prosperity throughout this great country the past few years, ill-judged investments have been made in the citrus business; plantings of oranges and lemons have been made for the sole purpose of selling to the newcomer without regard to their intrinsic merits; and the reaction which has in many cases overtaken such investments and plantings has undoubtedly also had its influence upon the present selling values of many sound and profitable orchards to be found scattered throughout the length and breadth of the citrus belt.

In looking back over an experience of nearly twenty years in the citrus business in California, the writer can but see a repetition of past events; a period of partial depression rapidly followed by years of great prosperity; and herein lies the great opportunity which today is wide open before the investor and within the grasp of the investor. Even in the short period of our experience prosperity has more

More School Bonds?

Editor Register:
I read with much interest your article on the above subject on the 16th inst.

I have always voted for every issue of school bonds proposed in this city, and for almost every issue of bonds proposed for any purpose.

And yet, serious questions suggest themselves to me concerning the proposed additional issue of bonds. We have just voted the $200,000 asked by the Board of Education for the new Polytechnic High without question or criticism. An advisory board of five of our most competent citizens, enjoying the entire confidence of our people, was named to consult and assist the Board of Education in a wise expenditure of the money. And relying on the added efficacy thus given to the board, the people voted the bonds.

Unfortunate differences of opinion arose, and heat and feeling were engendered in settling the question of location. But it was finally accomplished without bloodshed.

The employment of an undesirable architect caused another tempest in the teapot. But the board, under efficient advice and assistance, disposed of him, and in accordance with law and the rules of the association of architects, employed a competent architect upon submission of competitive plans. The law required—and I assume that the Board of Education followed the law—that before any premium should be awarded for such plans and specifications, they require the architect to execute and file with them a good and sufficient bond in the penal sum of $5000 and conditioned that within sixty days from the date of said bond he would, on presentation to him, enter into a contract containing such provisions and conditions as they might require; also that he would give such further bond to secure the faithful performance of said contract as they might require, should they, within sixty days, require him to enter into a contract to erect the buildings at the price named by them in their advertisement for plans. This provision of the law made the architect practically guarantee that the buildings could be erected according to his plans, specifications and estimates for the amount fixed by the board.

My recollection is that after the employment of the second architect, he was required by the board to draw plans for all the buildings, including an ample auditorium, to be constructed at an expenditure not exceeding $160,000—$40,000 being reserved for the purchase of the site and other necessary expenditures; that he prepared such plans, specifications and estimates and within the limits of the expenditures fixed. In accordance with these plans and specifications the board advertised for bids, and the contracts were let and carried out for the construction of all the buildings, except the auditorium—the most important of all, the home of the heart and life of the school. For this there were only furnished the mother earth, some bare bleachers and the canopy of heaven. The money had all been spent in the other structures. No satisfactory explanation of this result has ever been made. I heard at the time that the school management had cheerfully remarked to the students that it was up to them to get their parents to vote another installment of bonds.

I would like to know where our experienced financiers and successful business men constituting the advisory committee were while these conditions were being brought about? None of them appeared upon the platform of honored officers and citizens assembled at the dedicatory exercises, nor were their names mentioned in the congratulatory and laudatory remarks made on that occasion. The magnificent public buildings and site, for which the parents and tax payers of the city had bonded their homes in the sum of $200,000, were officially and graciously delivered to the waiting officers by the president of the senior class!

For one, I would like to have a report from the president of the senior class, the Board of Education, and advisory board, or whoever was responsible, showing how and why our auditorium was lost.

Your article says that $25,000 will be needed for the auditorium and $25,000 more to add needed class room to the Poly High, and buy needed apparatus. Has our school board just discovered these needs? Or did they know and ignore them when the plans were first made? Or has the growth of our high school been so rapid that, though the entire $160,000 was devoted to the erection of class rooms not less than a year ago, we are now in need of still more? Before the Poly buildings were erected we had $50,000 in class rooms, which, though crowded, accommodated the entire high school. We put $160,000 more into class rooms, and do we still need more?

Your article says $25,000 is needed for the grammar schools, to be used for painting some of the school houses, putting a new roof on Lincoln school, etc. Is it possible that the ordinary repairs of our buildings cannot be made out of the ordinary revenues of the district? If this be true, there is no hope of ever paying the bonds that are being asked for.

And what necessity is there for putting a new roof on the Lincoln school? Was the structure planned so improperly or constructed so imperfectly that it needs a new roof before it is five years old? If so, let us know who is to blame for it.

If these matters are not proper subjects for frank and full explanations and the tax payer is simply to keep quiet, do what he is told and vote such bonds as the president of the graduating class and the school board tell him to, he reminds me of the Soldier of Balaklava, "His not to make reply, his not to reason why; his but to do and die, though some one had blundered."

Yours inquiringly,
E. E. KEECH.

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very grateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me, so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Doings In Social and Club Circles

COLONIAL DINNER-WHIST

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Entertained Friends With Delightful Evening Function

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reeves of 1628 Spurgeon street entertained last evening with a Colonial dinner and whist party, the event being one of the prettiest of recent social functions. The hostess and the young ladies, Misses Doris Robbins and Irma Reinhaus, who assisted her in receiving and scoring, were in Colonial costume and the quaint, beautiful old-time attire was most becoming. A patriotic scheme was carried out in the decorations, red carnations and flags of all sizes being used effectively throughout the house while bunting entwined the banister of the stairway. A basket of Shasta daisies hung from the ceiling in the hall, forming a pretty contrast to the brilliant red, white and blue of the flags and bunting.

After the guests had all assembled in the cheerful parlors they united in singing "America," the strains ringing out with splendid fervor, putting the company in splendid spirit for the charmingly appointed four-course dinner at which covers were laid for the host and hostess, Messrs. and Mesdames L. J. Carden, O. M. Robbins, George Balderston, W. W. Cleveland, C. S. Kendall, F. C. Rowland, Fred Taylor, O. H. Egge, J. P. Hatzfeld, Will Spurgeon, Alex. Brownbridge, W. E. Winslow, Max Reinhaus, Arthur Pease, J. W. Bishop, J. E. Gowen, P. L. Tople, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Robertson, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Whitson, Prof. Emory Ratcliffe, Mrs. Alice Tubbs and Lester Tubbs; Mrs. A. A. Harris of Brookings, South Dakota.

Progressive whist was played after dinner, two small girls, Kathleen and Betty Harris, garbed in white with shoulder sashes of red, white and blue, passing the score cards. First prizes went to Mrs. Hatzfeld and Mr. Robbins and the consolation trophies to Mrs. Alice Tubbs and Mr. Gowen.

Colonial Supper
The Ladies Aid of the First Presbyterian church will give a Colonial supper at the church on the evening of Feb. 23. This will be a house warming also, as the new addition to the church will be open for inspection. There will be a good supper, which will be served at 5:30 o'clock, with waiters in Colonial costumes, and a program of old time "speaking and singing," also a room of antiques and curios. This will be in the new part of the church.

All having curios that they are willing to loan for the evening are asked to telephone to Mrs. W. E. Ward, 6914.

There will be a basket at the door for an offering, which it is hoped will be very liberal. This money will go to the furnishing of the new part of the church, the new kitchen and dining room.

Dry Federation Banquet
Tuesday night, February 24, at Hamburger's Cafe, Los Angeles, there will be a big banquet under the auspices of the Southern California Dry Federation, and all interested in the great movement for "California Dry, 1914," are invited to attend. The tickets are $1 per plate. There are four tickets available here for that many persons which will be furnished without charge.

KEEP SWEET AND KEEP MOVIN'

Hard to keep sweet when the throng is dense, When the elbows jostle and shoulders crowd; Easy to give and take offense, When the touch is rough and the voice is loud. "Keep to the right," in the city's throng; "Divide the road" on the broad highway. There's one way right when everything's wrong; Easy and fair goes far in a day.

Just "Keep sweet and keep movin'." The quick taunt answers the hasty word— The lifetime's chance for a "help" is missed; The middie pool is a fountain stirred, A kind hand clenched makes an ugly fist. When the nerves are tense and the mind is vexed, The spark lies close to the magazine; Whisper a hope to the soul perplexed, Banish the fear with a smile serene, Just "Keep sweet and keep movin'." —Backbone.

DISTRICT MISSION MEETING WAS HELD

Workers from Chinese Fields Delivered Earnest Talks on Mission Needs

The storm interfered with the large attendance looked for at the all day District Missionary Meeting at the First Presbyterian church, where addresses were made by Dr. Garritt and Rev. Tappan, but a goodly number were present to hear the men sent out by the Board of Foreign Missions to present the subject of China's present day need. The speakers being delayed by washouts, the morning session was devoted to the reading of letters from Miss Grace Rowley and Rev. Koons, missionaries in China and Korea. A Bible reading and devotional service led by Mrs. W. W. Anderson was followed by a splendid talk by Mrs. Jones of Orange upon "Personal Responsibility and Conservation of Time." Miss Hazel Rowley accompanied by Mrs. Rowley, sang very sweetly "This Jesus." The morning session adjourned for luncheon in the church dining room.

Afternoon Program

The afternoon program was opened by Rev. Mr. Tappan, who has been seven years on the field of Hainan. He spoke particularly upon the "Women of China," giving a graphic picture of the sordid and pitiful life of the Chinese woman, before the uplifting influence of the gospel touches her. Speaking of the change wrought by the earnest self-sacrificing efforts of Christian missionaries in these lives, and outlining various methods of work among them, notably among the blind and insane who are legion because of neglect, he aroused in the heart of each hearer enthusiasm for the cause of Christ as it is being carried on in the island. One medical missionary there treated six thousand patients last year, and inoculated one thousand for prevention of plague. The missions are an imperative need. He said: "Do missions pay? Why send the flower of our educated youth to labor among these people? Why send out and exploit this 'China Campaign?' 'In as much as you have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren you have done it unto me.' Showing the necessary economy of Foreign Missionary boards the speaker stated that in this island containing over two million natives there are only twenty-two missionaries, all of whom are under the care of the Presbyterian board.

Dr. Garratt for many years on the field of Nankin, China, then gave a strong talk, dwelling on the character of the people, and the national problems. He spoke of the recent rebellion and state of government under President Yuan Shi Kai. One encouraging fact was the faith exhibited by the natives during the riots and looting, in the protective power of missionaries. The opportunity of the church today is the receptive attitude of the New China. More and better facilities are the crying need to care for the vast and increasing number of enquiring ones. What Japan has done China is destined to do, only about four hundred million times more so.

The next ten years will prove her shaping period. This is the call to the church at home. An economic as well as a Christian opportunity. Dr. Garratt's manner carried conviction to the hearer. He spoke briefly of the work of Mrs. Minnie Moore Gray, who labors in the same station, and who is remembered by many Santa Ana friends.

EVANGELIST WILL BE AT ARMORY HERE

W. R. MITCHELL

Evangelist W. R. Mitchell has accepted the invitation to deliver his lecture on "Which is the True Gospel?" Sunday at 3 p. m. in Armory hall.

This lecture is said to be of special interest to Christians and to non-Christians as well. It is said that the speaker tackles the problems of life and death in a practical way. The lecture is said to be broad-minded enough to permit of clearest reasoning and to afford a solid Scriptural basis for every assertion made. The lecture will include an explanation of the Chart of the Ages.

GEO. KROLL FUNERAL SERVICES TUESDAY

The funeral services of George Kroll will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Smith chapel, corner of Sixth and Broadway. Both the Elks and Odd Fellows local lodges, of which Mr. Kroll was a member, will attend, although there will be no formal lodge ceremonies. The body will be shipped to Los Angeles Tuesday for cremation.

Mr. Kroll was one of Santa Ana's best known men, having come here twelve years ago. He had been associated, during that time, with Mr. Curtis, in the barbering business. Mr. Kroll resided at Sixteenth and Spurgeon streets, having been located there since first coming to Santa Ana. He leaves a widow, who is a niece of County Recorder Peters, and a son, Malcolm, twelve years of age.

BEACH HEIGHTS MAN FATALLY BURNED

Dies at Santa Ana Hospital
from Injuries of Upset
Stove

E. W. EAMES TRAPPED
BY BLINDING FLAMES

Neglected to Fasten Top of Coal Oil Stove—House
Burns to Ground

Yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, while working with a small lighted coal-oil stove, in a room of his home at Newport Heights, E. W. Eames, a rancher, received burns from which he died at 1 o'clock at the Santa Ana Hospital. He was trying to get the wick of the stove to give a better flame and while so doing, having neglected to fasten the top of the oil tank in a manner sufficient to retain the oil, the stove overturned. The coal oil immediately burst into flame and in an instant the man was caught in the burning room.

Before losing consciousness he was able to explain that he became blind and confused by the flames and smoke of the burning oil and was not able to get to the door at once. When he did reach the outside all his clothing was afire and he received the frightful burns which resulted in his death several hours later. Dr. Burlew, at the hospital, said that there was not a foot of surface of the man's body that had not been burned. The Eames house was burned to the ground.

Eames leaves two sons, Glenn of Long Beach and Branton, a traveling man of Los Angeles. Mrs. Eames was in Santa Ana when the accident occurred. The body is at Smith's chapel, and will probably be sent to Long Beach.

Mr. Builder!

would you put a tile roof on your building if the cost was but little more than shingles?

We are preparing to make an indestructible concrete roofing tile, that makes a permanent roof, is artistic and best of all is not expensive.

EVERYBODY ADMIRE A TILE ROOF

But heretofore the expense of putting on has kept most builders from using it.

We have overcome that objection. The roofing tile we make will last practically forever, there is no expense of upkeep, no painting and it will retain its color for ages.

Our tile is used on the new Spurgeon street school building and County Horticulturist Bishop's home on Fairhaven Ave., also on the buildings adjoining the County Hospital.

These two groups never can come together. One of the mysteries of politics has been that a man is expected by many to stay in a party even though he no longer agrees with the principles of that party or with its leaders. I submit to you that there is neither logic nor reason in that view.

"In 1910 when the Progressives won the nomination, the reactionary leaders in this state supported the Democrat for governor. Then in 1912 they forgot to be the saviors of the state and they voted for the Democratic candidates and supported the Democratic view of the tariff. May I not then question their contention of purification from within? If you win in the contest for purification from within they become Democrats; if they win they want you to stay with them and fight the common enemy. I speak of the leaders, for the rank and file of both parties are progressive.

"In this state, no man dare become a candidate unless he be progressive. In the next nine months all parties will appeal to you for support on the ground that they are progressive. It will be but a tardy tribute that hypocrites pay to virtue.

"We are returning to the people our records in office. Every man made by us as to what has been done is backed up by the records of the state. You may take that record and go forward, or you can take it and go backward. It is up to you.

"The Progressives put through the initiative, referendum and recall. We found the state dominated by the Southern Pacific. Today the state regulates the Southern Pacific.

"We found the state honey-combed with petty graft. Today an officeholder of the state dare not graft. "We found that in twenty years the books of the departments had not been audited. Today we know within a cent every month how every institution and commission stands. We found only a few favored contractors doing the work for the state. Now we get twenty times the number of bids that the state used to get.

"It is your right to go back to the old bondage, your right to go back to the time when a railroad office in San Francisco gave orders to legislatures and even to governors. You can go back, if you want to; you can go ahead if you care to.

"For Humanity
 "The Progressives have passed in this state twenty-seven acts to better the condition of women and children. Government in these days must better the conditions of the men and women who toil. We have declared by legislation that women who toil must have a living wage and a working day of eight hours.

"To the business men who rebel at this sort of legislation, I say that this sort of legislation is human and for humans, and it has come to stay. No

MANY NATIONAL CRACKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Athletic organizations from Philadelphia, Newark, Syracuse, Boston, Baltimore and other cities will be represented in contests at the annual Sportsman's show which opens in Madison Square Garden today to continue through February 27.

Many of the most prominent amateur and professional marksmen, swimmers and fancy divers in the country will be seen in action during the week. Contests for boy swimmers of the grammar and high schools and to decide the ladies' indoor amateur swimming championships are on the program.

There will be water-polo matches, championship shooting matches for women and numerous other features candidate dare come before you and ask for the repeal of any one of those laws. No newspaper dares ask it.

Compensation Act
 "I now pass to an act most misunderstood of all, the Workmen's Compensation Act. It is the crowning achievement of progressivism in its program of social and industrial justice.

"The toll of human lives in industrial pursuits has shocked an enlightened civilization. The maimed and the injured by the accident of employment in the mad rush for gain have been forgotten and innocent women and little children have been left to bear the burden. Real progress the world over has revolved at the thrift and the care and the energy and importance accorded to deteriorated or broken machinery while broken humanity was cast aside. California, finally following every enlightened nation on earth and every humane state of the Union, has enacted the Workmen's Compensation Law. Against this law the attacks of our opponents are mainly directed and this law in many parts of the state has been made the issue of the campaign.

"Gladly do I accept this gage of battle, and I am willing to stand or fall upon legislation of this character. All our protestations are as naught as all our fine fanaticisms for humanity counts but little, if we fear to champion an enactment which will charge to the business the maimed body, the sightless eye and the broken limb of the worker, just as are charged the maimed machinery and broken shaft.

Bismark was the first statesman to seek a remedy for what had become a menacing evil. He made the employers of Germany, by limited insurance of their men, provide for injured workmen during their periods of adversity, and by his wise legislation the third greatest cause of poverty in Germany ceased to be a cause of poverty at all. All the nations of Europe, except Turkey, have followed Germany's example.

"Twenty-four states of the Union have laws of similar character. The three last Presidents of the United States, in turn, of different political parties, have insisted upon this law. It is as futile to attempt to turn back the tide of this sort of legislation as it was for King Canute to command the waves of the ocean to recede. And the law of the State of California by experts throughout all the land is admittedly the best law that exists upon the subject.

"When the big stick was reached out from Washington as our legislature was attempting to pass an anti-alien land bill, it was the Progressives who had the nerve to stand up.

"As to registration figures. The fact is that it is a marvel of politics that in the first month in this state 60,000 persons registered in a new party. The present figures by no means demonstrate how the ultimate vote will be."

that former programs have not contained.

WHO WANTS TO BE A MAYOR?

FARGO, N. D., Feb. 21.—Advertisements appeared in many papers throughout the state today announcing that any person who cared to become a mayor of a town could do so if he cared to buy the town of Saunders, N. D. W. W. Cook, the present owner and mayor of the town, has tired of the job and wants to sell out to some other more desirous of political honors. Saunders sprung up almost in a night when the St. Paul railroad crossed Cook's farm. A station was established there and shortly afterward two grain elevators arose and later followed a couple of stores. As Cook retained title to the land, he became the duly recognized mayor and his title will fall upon his successor.

TALBERT

THINNING BEET ROWS BEGINS

Ranchers Were Busy Up to the Time the Rain Began—
News Notes

TALBERT, Feb. 21.—The ranchers are beginning to thin the beet rows now. Good stands are reported everywhere and from the present prospects this will be an unusually good year for them. Robert McCuiston has already thinned over 40 acres. Others are rolling and cultivating them. The rain put a stop to the work.

S. E. Talbert is plowing 60 acres this week with his Caterpillar plow for George Law near Santa Ana. Mr. Talbert has just made a contract with the Newport Drainage District to build the levee between the Rice point two miles southeast of Talbert to connect with the river levee.

A new road is being graded by S. E. Talbert this week, one mile in length, between Dr. Huff's residence and the peat fuel factory.

The Garden Grove Y. M. C. A. was here last Sunday night and conducted the services at the local church. Mr. Perry made a splendid address on "Building the Right Kind of a Foundation." P. M. German had charge of the song service and he and Mrs. German sang a duet at the close of the service that was very much appreciated by the audience.

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, visited the school Tuesday morning of this week. The county examinations in spelling, history and geography will be held in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades Thursday and Friday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Walker took a trip last Monday to Roosevelt, in the northern part of the state, to see the latter's mother, Mrs. C. C. Heacock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ward visited his mother in Compton last Sunday. They were suddenly called on account of the illness of his mother.

Mrs. R. B. Wardlaw and her daughter, Mrs. Henderson Cheney, went to Los Angeles last Monday.

R. O. Whitesides has sold his interest in the blacksmith shop three miles east of Talbert, and has gone to Mexico. His family, however, are with her father in Los Angeles.

Marie Rush of Huntington Beach visited Nellie Wardlaw last Saturday and Sunday.

L. Koppl and wife with their two daughters spent last Saturday and Sunday visiting friends in El Segundo.

ELLIS MURDER IS MYSTERIOUS ONE

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Supported by bailiffs, William Cheney Ellis was arraigned yesterday for the murder of his wife, Ellen. Ellis trembled so violently that he was unable to stand unassisted when brought into court.

Ellis shot and then cruelly slashed his wife, Eleanor, in the fashionable Hotel Sherman on October 16, 1913. He is a wealthy harness manufacturer, formerly of Cincinnati, and was represented today by Attorney George Remus. A livid scar across his throat and two jagged, white marks upon his wrists, he said, were the only evidence he had to recall what happened in the hotel suite the morning of the killing.

Two lines of evidence, both tending to support the emotional insanity defense, will be offered by the defense, was indicated when court opened today. One will be Ellis' own statement that he discovered his wife was in love with another man and that this knowledge so crazed him that he planned her murder. The other, perhaps used for the first time in a murder trial in this country, will seek to show the probable effect witnessing the powerful eugenics play, "Damaged Goods," would have upon the brain of a man, who according to physicians, is diseased as was the principal figure in the Brieux drama. Mrs. Ellis came to Chicago from Cincinnati several days preceding the murder and went to the home of friends. Ellis arrived two days later, rather unexpectedly. They then made trips downtown to cafes and to the theatres. On the night of October 14 they saw "Damaged Goods," then in its first week's run in Chicago and the topic of universal comment. As if to neutralize its terrifying scenes they went the next night to see a performance of "The Road to Happiness," a rural drama that epitomized domestic happiness.

On the following morning, a house detective hurried to the Ellis suite at the Hotel Sherman, overlooking the city hall. He went in response to a frightened voice over the telephone and bursting in the door discovered Ellis, half-conscious, leaning against a chair, with blood gushing from a wound in his neck and two slashes across his wrists. Mrs. Ellis lay dead in bed, a gaping wound in her neck and two bullet holes in her breast. The first police theory was that it was a

SUING WOMAN ON $700 NOTE

Several Other Signatures Declared by Mrs. Neill to Be Forgeries

Out of several notes that appear to have the name of Mrs. Mary J. Neill signed as security for loans made to Edward M. McKinsey, there is one that has the genuine signature of Mrs. Neill. Upon that note suit was brought in the superior court today by the first National Bank of Santa Ana.

The note was given to McKinsey on Feb. 14, 1913, and was for $700. Interest was paid up to last September, about which time McKinsey concluded to gather in all he could gather and leave town. He has not since been seen.

It is known that McKinsey forged Mrs. Neill's name to notes that were accepted as having the genuine signature until after McKinsey disappeared. Some of these notes have been taken into court.

 An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted. Arthur J. Stokes against Lillian Stokes. H. C. Head represented the plaintiff.

For Guardianship
 S. E. Chaffee of Garden Grove has petitioned for guardianship of the property of Mrs. Ella Martin, who was sent to the insane asylum two days ago. The woman's property is worth about $1000. West, Koepsel & Eden represent Chaffee.

Estate
 The will of William D. Mateer was filed for probate yesterday by Attorneys Williams & Rutan, with Lloyd Mateer as petitioner for letters. The estate is valued at $50,000, of which $45,000 is in notes. By the will $10,000 is to go to the widow, Annie F. Mateer, $10,000 to the son, Lloyd, and the remainder to the widow. The will was written on July 13, 1907.

Registration
 The total registration of Orange county up to today is 10,000, as follows: Republican, 4016; Progressive, 1673; Democrat, 3550; Prohibition, 780; Socialist, 355; Declines, 392; Independent, 33; Federation, 1.

suicide pact and Ellis' unattractive answers to questions supported it. Later, confronted with evidence showing that his wife could not have killed herself from the nature of the wounds, Ellis confessed, and in a broken voice cried out that his wife had been unfaithful to him, that she came to Chicago to meet a lover from a Canadian city and that when he obtained evidence of her unfaithfulness he followed her to Chicago, fettered her like a bridegroom on a honeymoon, and then deliberately killed her.

At the coroner's inquest Ellis caused a sensation by springing to his feet and dramatically declaring that he lied when he accused his wife. "She was the sweetest, purest woman in the world," he cried. "I don't know why I did it."

The jury held Ellis guilty and he was subsequently indicted. Following his indictment, he suddenly repudiated his statement at the inquest and again announced that he killed his wife because she was unfaithful to him. Nearly 100 witnesses, many of them from Cincinnati, were in court today when selection of the jury began.
